

GLAST Observations of Active Galactic Nuclei

- Gamma rays from Active Galactic Nuclei (AGNs) are believed to originate from collimated particle jets formed near spinning massive black holes

- GLAST will observe a large sample (thousands) of AGNs, allowing study of their cosmic evolution